

Essay from the bald pastor

#120 - A Message from Snow –

As I'm writing this essay in the late afternoon on February 13, 2014, the island of Japan is covered with snow. I saw on Facebook that even in Tokyo and Osaka, cars were looking like giant snowballs. All the way across Pacific Ocean, the east side of the U.S. has also been hit by a monstrous cold wave resulting in heavy snow. Out of such circumstance came a heartwarming news from icy cold Chicago.

Angela Washek, a surgical intensive care nurse at the Rush University Medical Center, saw someone running around on the roof of the hospital's parking garage on last Saturday night. She wondered what the person was doing in the cold. 30 minutes later, she looked over to the same spot and found a big message in the snow that read "Hi Mom. God Bless U." Wondering who wrote it, she made calls to every department in the hospital to find out. From a report from the blood center, it turned out that was the husband and a 14 year-old son of a patient named Sharon Hart. She has been hospitalized for a leukemia treatment. Apparently, the message was intended for Sharon. However, her son, William said, "We originally wrote 'Hi Mom.' But then my dad and I decided to change it to 'GOD BLESS U ALL' to celebrate all the moms and workers at the hospital." Needless to say, it warmed the hearts of everyone at the hospital on the cold night in Chicago.

The Bible says;

For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do.

Ephesians 2:10

Well said. You don't need any license, education, or money to do good things. That's something we can all do right at this moment, and that's what God expects us to do.

2-13-2014

