

Essay from the Bold Pastor
#24 -A Flying Car-

The prototype of a roadable aircraft dubbed the “Transition” made its Auto show debut in April 2012. The aircraft is in development under “Terrafugia”, a small company based in Massachusetts. The estimated purchase price for the Transition is $279,000, and already there are over a hundred reservations on deposit.

Although numerous corporations have developed roadable aircrafts, none has yet to achieve mass production. Several features about this aircraft stand out. One is its size; with the wings stowed, it is small enough to be stored in a normal-sized garage. It runs on automobile grade gasoline. Its target customer is not exclusively the super-rich, but anyone, for example the pilots who would prefer this over paying high aircraft storage costs.

Their message is actually similar to that found in the gospel;

“but to those whom God has called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God.” 1 Corinthians 1:24.
